The Tompkins County Legislature passed an official proclamation late last night that honors the memory of Henry "Harry" Tompkins, the pilot of the US Airways plane that crashed into the Hudson River on January 15th, 2009, killing 155 people. Citing the New York Governor's recent creation of the New York Tribute to Heroes foundation, County Legislator Dan Donoghue moved to officially name the river's west bank stretch of riverfront in Hoboken as the "Harry Tompkins Memorial Pier." "I am particularly proud to be putting this on our website and being able to pass it on to everybody that is here tonight and everybody that is watching on the internet," Donoghue said in an interview. The resolution passed Monday, January 26th by the county legislature reads: WHEREAS, on January 15, 2009, the Boeing 757-200 operated by US Airways Flight 1549 crashed into the Hudson River after coming in for a landing at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport; and, WHEREAS, on January 15, 2009, 155 passengers and crew perished in the crash; and, WHEREAS, US Airways voluntarily offered assistance and rescue to passengers, crew and emergency personnel at the scene of the accident; and, WHEREAS, the US Airways Boeing 757-200 aircraft was destroyed by fire; and, WHEREAS, the Hudson River, the site of the accident is a protected New York state resource; and, WHEREAS, on January 22, 2009, Governor David Paterson directed the creation of the New York Tribute to Heroes foundation to raise funds to support the American Red Cross in the future; and, WHEREAS, on January 25, 2009, Henry "Harry" Tompkins made the crossing of the Hudson River in a boat in order to assist passengers as they struggled in the cold and bitter waters; and, WHEREAS, on April 19 e79caf774b
